Renewal Strategy

During our pre-renewal meeting held on 12/8/2022, we discussed the following strategies for CRB Group, Inc. Professional/Pollution Liability, Property/Casualty, and Executive Liability insurance renewal:

	Option 1: Incumbent	Option 2: Hybrid	Option 3: Market
Description:	Negotiate only with the existing insurer to develop a renewal program	Negotiate early with the existing insurer based on agreed benchmarks; if benchmarks are not met go to option 3	Approach the existing insurer and competing insurers for renewal proposals
Timing:	Standard renewal timeline; insurer renewal proposal due 15 to 30 days prior to expiration	Accelerated renewal timeline, insurer renewal proposal due 30 to 45 days prior to expiration	Standard renewal timeline; insurer renewal proposals due 15 to 30 days prior to expiration
Recommended Frequency:	Applicable to most renewals if insurance program is competitive and insurer is providing good service.	Should be used as an alternative approach between options 1 and 3 if needed to maintain competition but insured is not likely to change insurers	Once every three to five years.
Comments:	This approach is for insureds that are comfortable with the terms of their insurance program and value long-term relationships. Insured's should expect that long-term loyalty will result in favorable treatment from their insurer for difficult claims and in hard insurance markets.	This approach is for insureds that do not want to change insurers, but want to create a certain level of competitive pressure as part of the renewal process. Insureds that have suffered a large claim recently or have used Option 3 recently are good candidates for this approach. The hybrid approach works best in a soft insurance market, but if used more than two years in a row may lose its effectiveness.	This approach is for insureds that want competitive options because they are uncertain of the pricing, coverage, or service being provided by their insurer. If used infrequently, marketing coverage to multiple insurers can provide favorable results. If used too often, insurers will tire of quoting and competition will decrease.

After reviewing each of the alternatives, we agreed to pursue Option 2. A summary of the renewal quotes is provided in the balance of the report.

Summary Comparison of Insurer

Explanation of Renewal Comparisons

The following pages contain a comparison of the expiring and renewal insurance programs. We have provided several comparisons to help you better understand and compare the results of the renewal negotiations. An explanation of each column on the tables on the following pages is below:

- Expiring: This column shows the initial premium for the insured's policies as of the beginning of the current policy year and is based on the exposure data available at that time. Endorsements and mid-year changes are not included.
- Expiring Adjusted: The premiums in this column are for comparison purposes only. They are developed by multiplying the expiring policy rates by the renewal exposure information. The purpose is to provide an adjusted premium that is an apples-to-apples comparison to the renewal premium. For example, if a company's revenue went down 10 percent and its insurance premium went down five percent, then on an adjusted basis, the company is paying five percent more.
- Renewal: The premiums in this column are the amounts quoted by insurers for the renewing policy term.

Throughout this document, we have used symbols to denote the renewal terms as they compare to expiring, which are:

Symbol	Meaning
✗	Not Covered
✓	Covered
